It describes the society and culture of that period. Malavikagnimitram written by Kalidasa provides information on the kingdom of the Pusyamitra Sunga dynasty. Bhasa and Sudraka are other poets who have written theatrical works based on historical events. Harshacharita, written by Banabhatta, sheds light on many historical facts that otherwise we could not have known. Vakpati wrote Gaudavaho, based on Kanauj's Yasovarman companies. Vikramankadevacharita, written by Bilhana, describes the victories of the subsequent King Chalukya Vikramaditya. Some of the most important biographical works, which are based on the life of the kings are à ágestá kumarapalacaarita of Jayasimha, Kumarapalacharita or Dvayashraya Mahakavya of Hemachandra, Hammirakavya of Nayachandra Navasahasankachaca of Padmagogua Bhojaprabandha. It is the best form of historical writing appreciated by modern historians. His critical method of historical research and the impartial treatment of historical facts have gained him great respect among modern historians. Sangam literature is in the form of short and long poems, consisting of 30,000 verses, which are divided into two main groups: Patinenkilkankanaku and Pattipattai. It describes many kings and dynasties of southern India. Sangam was the poetic collection of a group of poets of different times, mainly supported by garments and kings. Sangam literature was made up of a large number of poets in praise of their kings. Some kings and events mentioned are also supported by registrations. Sangam literature generally describes events until the 4th century AD. Herodotus was dependent on the Persian sources for him on India. Herodotus in his book Histories (written in many volumes) describes Indo-Persian relations. A detailed report of the invasion of India by Alexander was written by Arriano. The Send their ambassadors to Pataliputra. Megastene, Deimaco and Diogni were some of them. Megastene came to the court of Chandragupta Maurya. He had written about the Indian society and culture in his book entitled à e À indicate indicate Although the original work was lost, but had often been mentioned in the works of subsequent writers. A book is à e À 'perlipus of the Erythrean Seaà e Written by an anonymous Greek author who settles in Egypt on the basis of his personal journey of the Indian coast in about A. D. 80 provides precious information on the Indian coasts. In the second century AD Tolomeo had written a geographical treaty on India. Greek writing on India, however, is based on secondary sources. They were ignorant of the country's language and customs and therefore their information is full of errors and contradictions. Many Chinese travelers visited India as Buddhist pilgrims from time to time; Three important pilgrms were à e ágestá Fa-Hien (Faxian) à e ágest visualized India in the fifth century A.D. Houen-Tsang (Kuanzang) à e à- visited India in the VII century and i-t'king (Yijing) à We à e à visiti India in the seventh century. Houen-Tsang had given a precious report on Harshavardhana and other contemporary kings of northern India. Fa-Hien and Houen-Tsang traveled in many parts of the country and gave an exaggerated report of Buddhism during the period of their visit. Houen-Tsang mentions Harsha as a follower of Buddhism, while in his epigraphic registers, Harsha is mentioned as a devotee of Shiva. These contradictions can be considered due to the multi-religious nature of the Indian rulers, who could become a foreigner. Ai-Biruni has given important information on India. He was Arablc and contemporary scholar of Mahmud by Ghazni. Ai-Biruni studies the Sanskrit and acquires knowledge of Indian society and culture through literature. Therefore, his observations are based on his knowledge of society e Indian culture, but he gave no political information of his time.
